First Night Moods

BY KASHA VAN SANT

The Language of Love

Should you feel the need to take a break from your honeymoon antics why not share author Adam Jacot de Boinod's interest in foreign languages with some trivial fun? His book, The Meaning of Tingo, explores it all!

For example, "nam gawa the wei woe lu yoe; phung dang si yang they nang yoe" (Dzongkha, Bhutan) means "fun and pleasure are located below the navel". "Magandang hinaharap" (Tagalog, Philippines) means "nice breasts" (literally, nice future).

"Dayadrsti" (Hindi) means "compassionate eyes".

"Ghalidan" (Persian) means "to move from side to side as lovers, to roll, wallow or tumble".

"Menggerumut" (Indonesian) means "to approach somebody quietly in the night for sex".

Although perhaps the perfect one for honeymooners, "jalishgar" (Persian) means "to be addicted to sexual intercourse".

The Meaning of Tingo is published by Penguin, October 2005, Hardback £10. Call Penguin Press on: 020 7010 3253

Pillow talk!

Why not literally take a leaf out of the naughty Agent Provocateur book. They have a series of erotic fiction that might just get you hot and steamy under the collar, not to mention elsewhere! They have 'Confessions' and 'Secrets' on offer for your perusal. Both books are available to buy from February priced £9.99 in hardback with a sexy ribbon. For more information contact Laura Brudenell at Chrysalis Books on 020 7314 1671.

Bed of roses

It might sound like a cliché but roses look great scattered all over a bedroom, so why not grab a few handfuls of some sexy rose buds from www.thelastdetail.com? These burgeoning buds of sweetness will add an extra dimension to your mood. They cost £5.99 for a pack of 125.

Light of my Life
