Supper clubs were initially public dining-out establishments which only opened in the evenings and have been popular ever since the 1930s. When The SupperClub opened in Amsterdam it blew away the cobwebs on the social scene, transforming perceptions. So no surprises that huge success led to new openings in Rome and San Francisco.

Think SupperClub, think the ultimate evening out where a stunning visual gallery, restaurant and club combine to create La Salle Neige. Every evening live entertainment acts and international DJs perform as guests relax on interchangeable beds in La Chambre Obscure, whilst being served by attentive staff. The enchanting and lively atmosphere sets the mood allowing consumption of delectable cocktails and the ever evolving dinner menu courtesy of Guus Wickenhagen. Have no expectations as every evening is different and always full of delightful surprises.

T H E L A T E S T

dining destination in downtown Miami is the Social at the Sagamore Hotel. This hip and happening 93-suite art hotel is favoured as one of the best acclaimed party venues in town.

This is the latest offering from famed international restaurateur Jeffrey Chodorow and renowned chef consultant Michelle Bernstein. Their aim is to offer a modern and imaginative version of the classical European “café society” experience. Guests are tempted by a global ‘small plate’ menu with all the dishes designed to be shared. The imaginative and often kitsch menu includes: Mini Kobe Burgers and Millionaire’s Devilled Eggs with truffles and caviar.

When visiting Miami, The Sagamore Hotel really is one of the best places to spend an evening. Dine at the Social then mix with the revellers either in the white lobby filled with contemporary art or in the newly installed art video garden or even at the poolside.

Owning your own nightclub is a secret ambition for some people, but not a reality for many. Now this unique concept in club ownership means that your patronage goes further than sampling the super sexy atmosphere, where each of the 250 shareholders own a portion of the club's business and receive a percentage of the profits. Founded originally in London in 2005, now M1NT Hong Kong is the latest to cause a stir.

At the peak of luxury and supreme glamour, M1NT Hong Kong morphs from a daytime business domain to a slick nightclub at night. International DJs are a regular fixture, and the cocktail menu offers everything from vintage champagnes to members-only perks including Vantage Aston Martins or a day's cruise on board M1NT's custom designed catamaran. An ever expanding concept watch out for new locations set to open in Melbourne and Singapore.

Inspired by the original and internationally revered El Floridita in Havana, Floridita London brings the vibrant and exhilarating world of Cuban culture to this vibrant capital city.

Occupying a large basement space in London's West End, Floridita combines a classic Cuban bar and a contemporary restaurant serving Cuban and Latin American cuisine. The flavours are complemented beautifully with daily servings of live Cuban jazz and DJs playing until the early hours.

El Floridita, Havana, is world famous as the bar where the daiquiri cocktails were first invented, under the esteemed patronage of Ernest Hemingway. Floridita London falls in line to serve up some classic versions as well as excellent modern variants. Renowned as one of London's best and extensive cocktail menus – with a dedicated bar team to boot, Floridita hits all the right notes.

LES CAVES DU ROY

There are bars and there are bars, some to spot and others to be spotted, this proud baby of Byblos hotels, exalts in the decadence of the Côte d'Azur. Be warned, this venue is unashamedly proud to flaunt itself and its clientele and that means the jet set.

Set in the heart of Saint-Tropez, Byblos exudes Mediterranean charm and boutique hotel mystique. Sample elegant poolside dining at the Bayader restaurant and soak up sultry sounds from the 70s before enjoying the intoxicating vibe of the club.

Les Caves du Roy definitely raises the bar with its electric and glamorous atmosphere. Beautiful women rub shoulders with stars, billionaires, royalty and the world's elite. If there are names to be dropped then David Coulthard, Donatella Versace, Calvin Klein and George Michael are a few that add kudos to the serious party crowd.
